JFK Likely to Take Hand to Prevent Strike

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy was expected to act today to head off a strike threat on American Airlines, in the midst of continuing efforts to settle a different union's dispute with Trans World Airlines.

The TWA walkout threat was held off only "from moment to moment" while the Flight Engineers International association studied terms proposed Tuesday by Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg.

The American disagreement is with 10,000 ground personnel represented by the Transport Workers Union. In that case there is a deadline of midnight Friday, but legal procedures to obtain at least a 60-day delay still are open.

On TWA those measures already have been exhausted. Both unions are affiliated with the AFL-CIO.

The National Mediation Board was reported to have certified to the White House that the threatened strike on American would endanger public transport service.

Kennedy was expected to invoke terms of the Railway Labor Act, which also applies to airline labor disputes, to head off the walkout for at least 60 days.

This involves naming an emergency board to hold hearings on the dispute between the TWA and American and recommend settlement terms.

Neither the union nor TWA has publicly announced whether it will accept Goldberg's proposal.

Early today Goldberg said there had been progress toward settlement of the TWA dispute.

Student to Speak at Youth Meet

Brooks Holfield

Brooks Holfield, senior pre-ministerial student at Hendrix College, Conway, will speak to the youth about "The Diary of a Teenage Rebel" during the annual Youth Activities Week at the First Methodist Church, July 19-20.

"The Diary" is a series of modified "stream of consciousness" excerpts relating the experiences and attitudes of a contemporary teenager in a somewhat confusing world. Each excerpt from the diary is followed by a sermon which amplifies the essential themes of the narrative.

Holfield has served student pastorates for three years and has been president of the North Arkansas Conference Methodist Youth Fellowship. In college he was Junior Class president and is presently president of Blue Key national honor fraternity, and chairman for the freshman Orientation Committee.

He has served as local, sub-district and district president in the MYF, and was a member of the Jurisdictional Youth Steering Committee in 1960-61, and was a delegate to both the National Conference of Methodist Youth and the National Convocation of Methodist Youth.

He will attend Perkins School of Theology, SMU, upon graduation next year.

Further plans for the week will be announced shortly.

Kiwanians Told About Forestry

Otha T. Ivey of the State Forestry Commission, was principal speaker before Hope Kiwanis club yesterday, and pointed out the vast importance of timberland in Arkansas.

He said the forestry industry in Arkansas provided 95,000 jobs, and that 55% of the land in Hempstead county was in forests, comprising a total acreage of 261,000 in this county.

He then launched into a blistering attack on Communism. Alcoholism, the give-away programs to foreign countries and the high federal debt and taxation burden on the American people.

He then quoted J. Edgar Hoover as saying that the only salvation for America was "to get back to God," and concluded by declaring that the home, the church and the school, all cooperating together, offered some hope for the younger generation and a solution to some of the world's problems.

Wilson Makes Known His Candidacy

The Hope Star was today authorized to publish the formal announcement of John L. Wilson in his bid for the office of Municipal Judge.

"A native of Hempstead County, John graduated from High School at Hope in 1933 after lettering 3 years as a Bobcat football player. He played on the 1938 team that won 10, lost 1 and tied 1. John ran for President of the student body, during his Junior year and was elected over two opponents without a runoff.

"After serving in the Infantry during the second World War, two years of which were served in Alaska, John graduated from the University of Arkansas School of Law and has practiced law here since 1948. In 1951 he ran for Mayor and was elected in a field of three candidates, receiving a majority of the votes on the first ballot. He served as Mayor for four years and in January of 1959 he became Deputy Prosecuting Attorney and served in this capacity until March 1962 when he was appointed to fill the unexpired term of Judge W. Kendall Lemley. The appointment was made by Governor Orval E. Faubus.

"In addition to his service as a public official John served as President of the Chamber of Commerce and is at present serving as a member of the Board of Trustees of the Booneville Sanitarium and a Commissioner of the Arkansas Methodist Children's Home. He is a member and past chairman of the Official Board of the First Methodist Church and a teacher of the Century Bible Class.

"The 43 year old candidate issued the following statement: 'I am grateful for the encouragement you have given me in this race. The Municipal Court is generally where the citizen has his first contact with our judicial system. It is here that traffic violations and misdemeanor crimes are tried. Active and continuous effort should be made to stay abreast of ways and means to improve this Court of first impression. I shall welcome the opportunity to serve you in this capacity.'

Campaign Stays on Fast Tempo, More Promised

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Gov. Orval E. Faubus announced today he will formally open his fifth-term campaign with a statewide radio and television broadcast from an outdoor rally in El Dorado.

Faubus said he chose El Dorado because he has not previously opened a campaign in that section of the state. His four previous openers have been at Fayetteville, Clarksville, Benton and Little Rock.

The governor said he tentatively plans to spend June 29 and 30 campaigning in southwest Arkansas.

An opponent, Vernon Whitten of Mount Holly, proposed at Lewisville today a revision of the system for selling state automobile license tags.

He said the public was put to great inconvenience by the present system of selling all tags in January.

The campaign tempo slowed some today after a busy day Tuesday.

In Tuesday developments, former Gov. Sid McMath said he would offer, "by the end of this week," a proposal for providing additional revenue by collecting interest on state deposits in various banks.

Faubus, addressing a Baptist convention in Texarkana, defended his administration and discussed morality. Whitten attacked the Faubus administration in a speech at Nashville, saying he was glad he did not have to make the claims Faubus has to make.

McMath, in a news release, said he had previously advised that the state might base a program of capital improvements on new revenue from invested funds, "eliminating the need for bond deals, for diversion of school funds and for large opportunities for bookkeeping and personal profit."

In talks during the day Tuesday, McMath and Rep. Dale Alford both assailed Faubus' political power and Whitten deplored the continuing loss of adult population in the state.

McMath warned a Little Rock Civic club of what he termed "indications Arkansas has moved a substantial way down the road toward becoming a police state."

He said the Faubus administration had tried to "dissipate state funds and destroy the public services which we have so carefully built up with tax money."

Alford said at Cotton Plant that Faubus is trying to create the impression only he (Faubus) is capable of serving as governor.

Kenneth Coffelt continued his tour of south Arkansas cities. He has said he will make 7 stops this week.

David A. Cox of Weiner has not listed a campaign schedule.

Former Local Resident Dies at Pine Bluff

Mrs. Kitty E. Griffin, aged 73, formerly of Hope, died today at Pine Bluff. She was the wife of the late Will Griffin.

Survivors include a son, George of Camden; three daughters, Mrs. Ansley Gilbert of Hope, Mrs. W. E. Phillips of Midland, Tex.; Mrs. E. L. Blackberry of Fort Worth; three sisters, Mrs. Bright Wilson and Mrs. Jewell Thompson of Wheaton, Ind.; Mrs. Amos Beard of Sheridan; four brothers, Early and John Thompson of Springdale; Howard of the U. S. Army and Luke Thompson of Mexico, Mo.

Services will be held at 4 p. m. Thursday at the Columbus Baptist Church. Burial by Herndon-Cornelius will be in Columbus Cemetery.

Rainmakers Go Into Action

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP)—Mexican cotton choppers on the Hutchenson farm near Jonesboro have indulged in a little job protection by "making rain."

It hadn't rained on the farm since May 2 and Mrs. Boman Hutchenson told six Mexicans if moisture didn't come soon, there would be no work for them.

Three of them went to work immediately, scooping up a mound of dirt the size of a washtub. They filled it with Johnson grass, added a few cotton blooms and two cotton stalks, then announced it was a rainmaker.

They predicted rain would fall in three days.

Gops to Fight Senate Vote on Medicare

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans threatened an all-out fight today against any administration effort to force a Senate vote on President Kennedy's plan for health care for the elderly.

The Kennedy bill, which calls for Social Security financing of hospital and nursing home benefits remains stalled in the House, Ways and Means Committee despite indications that the President is willing to compromise on some of its features.

If this situation doesn't change, Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., said he will offer the proposal as a rider on some House-passed revenue measure.

Since the House must originate such legislation, it would be unlikely to accept such a Senate amendment.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said in a separate interview that if the Democrats try such a maneuver they will find they have a fight on their hands.

Asked if Republican talk might delay a possible mid-September adjournment of Congress, Dirksen shrugged. He said that would depend somewhat on when the Democrats chose to make their move.

MAGNOLIA, Ark. (AP) — Baldwin Construction Co. of Little Rock has been awarded an $833,952 contract for construction of a 318-acre University Park area. The URA said the survey will determine whether urban renewal projects in the area will be feasible.

Second Try at High Test Is Failure

HONOLULU (AP) — The United States failed in its second attempt to explode a high-altitude nuclear device above Johnson Island Tuesday night.

The Thor intermediate missile used to rocket the gigantic nuclear package aloft was destroyed "due to a malfunction in the system."

Joint Task Force 8 released the following announcement: "The nuclear device was purposely destroyed without a nuclear detonation. The debris fell into the open sea well within the safety area which was previously designated."

"There was no danger to test personnel. There will be no danger to human life or hazardous levels of radioactivity in the ocean," the announcement said.

The failure was a repeat performance of the first U.S. high altitude nuclear test attempt June 4 at the Pacific island test area 750 miles southwest of Honolulu.

The first shot was aborted when the Thor missile's tracking system malfunctioned.

The official announcement on Tuesday night's shot was not specific on what went wrong.

Loan to Little Rock

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Urban Renewal Administration has announced an interest-free loan of $3,647 to assist Little Rock in making a feasibility survey of its 318-acre University Park area. The URA said the survey will determine whether urban renewal projects in the area will be feasible.

VA Planning a Mortgage Sale

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The proposed sale of about 215 mortgages valued at $1,500,000 was announced Tuesday by the regional office of the Veterans Administration.

The VA said the mortgages are on homes throughout the state. They are part of $220 million such mortgage to be offered by 29 regional offices.

The sale involves, the VA said, defaulted home loans that private investors made under the VA. Exact date of the sale was not announced.

Steel Price Hike Unlikely Before Fall

NEW YORK (AP) — The effects of the clash with President Kennedy rule out serious thoughts of a steel price increase before September, the Iron Age said today.

The metalworking weekly said the earliest possibility would be in that month and could only be selective.

It made the comment after noting that the new steel labor contract will add an estimated $6 a ton to the cost of making steel when it becomes effective July 1.

The added cost will come, it added, at a time when steel orders are at a rate that would justify steel production equal to only 50 per cent of capacity.

The new labor contract may cause considerable disruption at the local level, the Iron Age said, because of what it termed complicated security provisions that are still being worked out.

These include regional transfers, minimum work weeks and flexible vacation schedules.

The September increases might be possible, said the Iron Age, because inventory liquidations should be past and an upturn in steel orders and production may be under way.

The short-term outlook is poor, the magazine said. It predicted a production drop of 10 per cent in July and said a resurgence of buying by automakers for August is not likely to reach expected strength.

Fred O. Ellis, Manager of the Association, said that Hope Federal had approximately $1,550,000.00 in savings and share accounts and that these dividend payments would amount to about $33,000.00.

No Progress, Rusk Begins NATO Talks

By DAVID M. MASON

PARIS (AP)—U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk today began a round of consultations with North Atlantic Treaty Organization military and political leaders after a meeting with French President Charles de Gaulle that made no real progress toward smoothing differences between France and the United States.

Rusk arrived in Paris on Tuesday for the first stop on a West European tour to shore up the unity of NATO. American sources said his initial talk with De Gaulle was animated, friendly and searching but that it didn't budge the French leader.

Rusk met first today with Gen. Lauris Norstad, NATO supreme commander, and then talked with Ambassador Thomas K. Finletter, the permanent U.S. representative of the 15-nation NATO Council.

There was no immediate indication of the substance of their talks. It was thought likely they briefly reviewed current NATO problems, including the issue of giving America's allies a greater share in deciding on when and how NATO's arsenal of American nuclear warheads might be used.

After his meetings with Norstad and Finletter, Rusk went to the sprawling NATO headquarters at the edge of Paris for talks with NATO Secretary-General Dirk U. Sliker and a session with the council.

U.S. sources said Rusk was meeting informally with the council and had no prepared statement or specific proposals to put before the group.

Later, Rusk was to return to his consultations with French leaders — to main purpose of his three-day trip to Paris. He had two meetings scheduled with Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville and was to talk with Premier Georges Pompidou.

During his talks with Couve de Murville, Rusk was expected to deal more specifically with the issues he had taken up with De Gaulle.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg said early today there has been progress toward settling a dispute between the Flight Engineers Union and Trans World Airlines.

Goldberg gave the hopeful report as he recessed the marathon negotiations at the request of union officials who asked for a chance to confer with their local chapters.

He declined to reveal the reason for the union conferences but presumably the flight engineer representatives want to sound out members on the government's latest proposal for solving the wrangle over jobs in the cockpits of jet airliners.

Goldberg presented the proposal to the airline and Flight Engineers International Association Tuesday just at the 2 p. m. deadline the union had set to strike TWA's transcontinental and overseas operations.

The union postponed the strike but not in time to head off picketing at New York's Idlewild Airport.

Court Review Case Could Be Important

By RAYMOND J. CROWLEY

WASHINGTON (AP)—Farmers and city dwellers alike should keep their eyes on a case the Supreme Court has just decided to review. The outcome is likely to be of enormous political importance.

It may give a tip-off on just how much political power the man-with-the-hoe (or in modern parlance, the man driving the tractor combine) must surrender to his city and suburban cousins.

The Supreme Court has already ruled that courts have jurisdiction to handle complaints of metropolitan residents that state voting systems are "invidiously" unbalanced.

In more than 30 states, there is ferment. City and suburban citizens have started lawsuits, forced special sessions of state legislatures—or threatened to, forced special sessions of State constitutional amendments or taken other steps. Their aim: to get more representation in state legislatures, in keeping with their vastly increased numbers.

Fuss Ties Up the Secret Service Pay

WASHINGTON (AP)—The prestige of the House and Senate fly like battle flags over a clash that has thrust into the light a shadowy dispute over status and as tied up pay checks of Secret Service agents.

Caught in the middle are some money bills including a $500-million supplemental appropriations bill to tide over government agencies which ran out of money until the new fiscal year begins in July.

Because of the feud some of the bills have been hanging fire for two months.

The Secret Service, which guards the President was the first to feel the pinch. Its 706 agents and clerks won't receive their pay this week and are working on the cuff.

This is the situation:

New Plant Coming to Fort Smith

FREMONT, Ark. (AP)—Plans for locating a second multi-million dollar Michigan-based industry were announced Monday by officials of Gerber Products Co., a baby food manufacturer.

Last July, Norge Division of Borg-Warner Corp. moved its facilities from Muskegon to Fort Smith into a new $10 million plant.

Dan F. Gerber, president of the company, explained the firm's move will not "take anything away from Fremont where we are expanding the general office and where we will locate a new corporate research center."

The earlier Norge move completely disrupted the company's operations at Muskegon.

Gerber gave the reason for selecting Fort Smith as purely economical. "We would never have set up an operation there were it not for overpowering economic consideration," Gerber said.

For several years, Gerber pointed out, the company has known it would need to establish facilities in the south-central portion of the country.

"It simply turned out that the economic chips fell on Fort Smith," Gerber added. He noted a ready available source of raw produce materials was in the Fort Smith area as well as economic transportation to serve a surrounding nine-state region.

The new plant is expected to employ between 500 and 700 workers with construction on the 50-acre site to start after next Jan. 1 company looked on the baby food line as an adjunct to a general canned foods business. By 1943, he said, it became apparent that baby foods were to become the firm's sole endeavor and the canning operations were discontinued.

Construction of a multi-million dollar plant at Fort Smith was announced Monday by Gerber, which is headquartered in Fremont, Mich.

Construction on the 100,000 square foot building is not scheduled to begin until Jan. 1, 1963, Gerber said. He said canning operations are expected to start in the fall of 1964.

The plant will eventually employ about 600 persons and have a payroll of about $3.5 million, Gerber said. He anticipated annual purchases of fruits and vegetables for the plant at 25,000 tons yearly.

Earlier Tuesday Gerber attended formal groundbreaking ceremonies at the 50.6 acre plant site about three miles northwest of the city.

Candidate Raps Socialistic Trend

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP)—Winston Chandler, opponent of Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., in the Arkansas senatorial race, said Tuesday the trend in the United States is toward a socialistic government.

Chandler said the government is trying to make people believe it will take care of them and that the public is losing its initiative. Terming himself a "strong states' rights" Chandler said, "I'm for free enterprise and against any socialism. One of my planks is to return the power to the local and state governments." The candidate said he opposed the King-Anderson medical care bill and waste and favored a balanced budget.

Few Mourn Passing of TV Season

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The 1961-62 television season has, for the most part, come to a quiet end. As the re-runs crowd the home screens, there will be few mourners at its passing.

For a second year in a row, it has been a period rarely sparked by creativity—a period dominated by formula writing and production-line entertainment containing very little that was fresh or novel.

The high points of the season, curiously enough, were the news shows—the cameras on the launching of manned rockets into space, a tour of the White House, an investigation of the operation of a book-making establishment.

It was a time when the industry—really nervous about strong criticism by Congressional subcommittees, the Federal Communications Commission and articulate critics—seriously attempted to curb scenes of violence.

It was a time when there were few original dramas, and most of those were second-rate and seemed to have been scripts found at the back of an author's desk drawer. The most interesting drama were adaptations of Broadway successes or novels.

The networks did a lot of bragging about their news and public affairs shows but continued to schedule most of them on the outside fringes of valuable prime evening time.

The public, in survey after survey, showed marked preference for pure entertainment—the Westerns, the doctors, the comedians. It has been, in short, period with many more downs than ups.

Maybe—just maybe—things will pick up next year.

"Noah and the Flood," CBS' expensive excursion into culture last week, may have improved the corporate images of the network and the shampoo company that sponsored it, but it apparently didn't impress the public much.

A sampling of the New York area by one research outfit indicated that every other competing network show had a larger audience than the dance-drama—and NBC's "Dr. Kildare" and "Hazel" had twice as many viewers.

Thinks GOPs on Spot Over Farm Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—House Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., said today Republicans have been put on the spot by a report some of their leaders agreed to oppose the administration's farm bill without offering alternatives.

McCormack said the report, denied by one of the Republicans named, improves chances of passing the farm bill. He talked with newsmen after the weekly breakfast meeting of Democratic congressional leaders with President Kennedy.

McCormack referred to a letter written by Martin Sorkin, who served as a consultant to former Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson. The letter, which McCormack called an amazing disclosure, was put in the record of a House subcommittee investigating the Billie Sol Estes case last week.

Sorkin since has been retained by Commercial Solvents Corp., the New York firm which financed Estes' grain storage operations. His letter to the firm's president reported on a meeting he said he attended with several prominent Republicans last year.

"It was agreed that it was not the responsibility of the Republicans to propose solutions but to criticize the administration wherever feasible," Sorkin wrote.

"This included varying the basis for the attack depending upon the area political situation." Sorkin said those present included Rep. William E. Miller of New York, chairman of the Republican National Committee; Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona chairman of the GOP Senatorial Campaign Committee, and Rep. Bob Wilson of California, head of the House Campaign Committee.

Miller has acknowledged that the meeting took place but insisted the Republican leaders had not agreed to adopt a negative stand. McCormack said Sorkin's letter shows clearly just what took place in the secret meeting. He said Republicans had planned their opposition months in advance without regard to the nature of the bill.

Her In-Laws Are In-Laws in Any Language

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: When I was a girl I thought in-laws an affliction peculiar to America. But after 49 years of marriage to a foreigner, it's been my experience that an in-law is an in-law no matter what the nationality, and distance is no protection.

Mine keep me riled by air-mail and even cable when a co-called family crisis arises. My husband and children love me and I them. Yet, to this day, his sisters and brothers claim I'm a no-good who roped dear boy (their pet name for him) into a life of matrimonial servitude. If anything, I'm the slave-slave of my love for him. Whatever he says goes.

When he invited his elder sister over for a visit, with all expenses paid, I said, "Fine," fixed up the best room in the house and planned parties for her. I'd seen her photographs and been more or less prepared for what was coming by the caustic letters she wrote, yet my heart sank at sight of her. She was a typical old maid of the early 1900's; disapproving, painfully neat, no make-up.

She stayed six weeks too long and wouldn't lift a finger to help with the housework. My husband said nothing, nor did I, though I thought he should have spoken up for me. Looking back, I think he feared her. She kept telling me that the women of her family were ladies and never worked.

She also said that my husband would come into a lot of money some day. And the way she said it indicated she hoped I wouldn't live to enjoy it. Well, I'm 68 and that fortune remains a myth. My 72-year old husband still works as head bookkeeper for the mercantile firm which has employed him these 40 years.

He has been good to me and our children—now married with children of their own. But he remains silent even though his sisters and brothers continue to snipe at me. Shouldn't a man protect his wife from his relatives?—Tramped On

Dear Tramped On: I don't think it's so much a question of "protection," since a continent separates you from your in-laws, as it is being further involved. And in this sense, your husband, by refusing to start a mail order row, is right. Family wrangles can be so bitter. Nobody wins. But to your question, yes, a husband should put his wife first but, at the same time he wouldn't be much of a man if he didn't show some loyalty to his family. Yours is in a difficult position. He must be thankful, as you certainly have reason to be—that they remained in their homeland.

Prove how wrong they are by continuing to make him happy!

Dear Helen: I'm never caught up with housework. If my husband weren't easy-going he would have moved out long ago. Things just don't stay where they're put, or maybe I don't put them right in the first place. Our two children are neat enough and so is Pop, but I can scramble the most orderly room in less time than it takes to tell. My husband says the only thing in the right place is my heart. Well, at least I'm good-natured. Any suggestions?—Willing to Try

Dear Willing: Order is heaven's first law. Organize your home; budget your time. Outline the program on paper with the help of your family. Decide where what is to go. Replace after use and see that your husband and children do the same. Run on schedule. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for my leaflet on "Better Home Management."

Probers Told of Forced Prostitution

WASHINGTON (AP)—A U.S. Immigration agent told Senate investigators today of Canadian girls as young as 15 years old being brought to the United States with glittering promises of night club stardom, but forced into prostitution by a crime syndicate.

Agent Glen F. Rice told the story to the Senate Investigations subcommittee. He charged it showed a conspiracy involving officials of the American Guild of Variety Artists, a woman known as Billie Brown who runs a booking agency in Montreal, and an "organized crime element."

The subcommittee is investigating allegations of connivance between racketeers and some officials of AGVA, an AFL-CIO union.

Dorothy Lamour, the movie actress, a member of the AGVA board of directors, attended the hearing today. She told reporters she was willing to testify and "clarify some of the dirt that has been slung at the union by witnesses." The subcommittee said she is not a scheduled witness and indicated there is no plan to call her.

Rice, on loan to the subcommittee, testified that in 1950 and 1951, he had uncovered "unbelievable and shocking conditions" under which young girls were supplied with whisky, beaten and threatened to force them into acts of prostitution and perversion at honky tonk strip teases and "exotic" dance night clubs in Chicago and Calumet City, Ill.

He cited case histories of two from making myself and my husband miserable by my jealousy? I'm a fiend incarnate at the height of my fury and a poor beaten thing after it dies down. Now it's the girl across the street who's driving me wild. I'm 30, overplump and, while attractive, not beauty contest material. She is 19, slim, willowy and golden-haired. She sits on her front porch a lot. Every time my husband looks her way I could die. He says there must be Turk blood in his veins because he loves a fat girl and that's me! I wish I could believe him!—Fattie

Dear Fattie: There are millions of beautiful girls in the world with a new crop coming up each year. If you're going to be jealous of each and every one, you're acting like a little girl who sees a hobgoblin in every shadow. Make up your mind to grow up by learning to control your emotions. Take charge of your thoughts. Concentrate upon loving your man and recognize jealousy for what it is—pure, unadulterated selfishness. True love is selfless!

Route Restricted

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The state Commission said Tuesday it has been ordered to restrict Superior Forwarding Co., Inc., a trucking firm, in use of a new route which the commission granted last December for service from Hoxie to Jonesboro to Harrisburg. The restriction will allow operations of the firm on Highway 1 from Harrisburg to Jonesboro but prevent it from using a combined routing schedule on Highway 7.

Canadian girls identified only as Miss X, 20, and Miss Y, 15, lost their names become known.

His investigations for the Immigration Service, Rice said, showed many violations of the immigration laws to get the girls into the country.

He said Miss X and Miss Y, completely inexperienced as entertainers, were recruited by Miss Brown through an advertisement in Canadian papers offering night club jobs, "no experience necessary." He said promises of stardom were a common practice to sign up Canadian girls "of tender age."

The 15-year-old girl was instructed to give her age as 19 to border officials, Rice said, and she and Miss X were sent first to a job "in literal bondage" at the Band Box Club at Hurley, Wis., but later shifted to Calumet City.

The girls, he said, found other Canadian teenagers, 15 to 17, at the Band Box and were shocked to discover that instead of a training job in a chorus, the dancers were expected to perform in skimpy costume and to help get male customers drunk so they could be robbed more easily.

Orphaned Family Is Together

WARROAD, Minn. (AP)—The orphaned Foster family of nine children is happily bewildered today, but still together—thanks to the generosity of strangers.

When both of their parents died within a year, it looked as though the eight young Fosters remaining at the home here would have to move in with relatives.

Foster died last September from cancer, a year—almost to the day—after the same disease had claimed his wife.

But 20-year-old Rita, the oldest of the clan of nine brothers and sisters, quit her job in Minneapolis and came to Warroad last fall, determined that the family keep on "growing up together."

Her determination attracted attention of the Grand Forks, N.D. Herald, which made its story on the Fosters available to the Associated Press for national distribution, along with a family picture.

Touched by Rita's decision to take on this responsibility, the nation answered with nearly 2,000 letters containing some $4,000 in cash and gifts.

"I just don't understand it yet," says Rita. "Why, these people have never seen us, they never even heard of us before."

The family now lives on those official payments. The gift money remaining has been banked against future emergencies.

Fears Deer Population in Danger

In the past twenty years, Arkansas has developed into an excellent deer hunting state. This has come about principally because of accelerated timber harvests, changes in farming and intense wildlife management and protection.

From only a few thousand, the numbers of deer have multiplied to the extent that in 1960, for the first time ever, an open hunting season was permitted in each of the state's 75 counties. The last harvest last year was 19,550.

However, in several portions of the state this boom of wildlife prosperity has at last caught up with itself. Today, game managers, land owners, timber interests and others close to conditions are apprehensive that unless there are soon initiated more liberal management procedures, especially as concerns a healthier population balance between sexes, the deer herds in some areas will become the pitiful victims of malnutrition, diseases and inferior growth characteristics. To say nothing of their damage to agriculture and timber crops. It is pointed out, in fact, that in numerous areas of the state these conditions already exist.

Arkansas is not unique to this situation. It occurred years ago in numerous other states. Some are today profiting from corrective measures — are now among the nation's best for deer. Others, especially in the South where the problem is newest, are working toward the same objectives — a practical solution before further damage is done.

During the next two weeks this newspaper will publish a series of articles detailing some of our deer problems and a few suggested measures for correction.

The information compiled for the articles has been drawn from our own biologists, other state game agencies, the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, National Forest Service and numerous private institutions engaged in wildlife research. Acknowledgement of these sources will be made at the conclusion of the series.

Rematch of Managers — No Action

BALTIMORE (AP)—The ballyhooed "rematch" of fighting baseball managers didn't come off Tuesday night, but fans of the Baltimore Orioles couldn't have cared less.

Baltimore dispatched the slumping New York Yankees 3-1 in the quiet, businesslike manner usually associated with Yankee victories. It was the fifth loss in a row for New York and the fifth consecutive triumph for the surging Orioles.

The last time the two clubs met, in New York's Yankee Stadium on June 11, Baltimore Manager Billy Hitchcock and Ralph Houk, the Yankee skipper, almost came to blows.

The giant-sized rhubarb was set in motion after Oriole rookie John (Boog) Powell was beaned by a pitch from Yankee left-hander Bud Dalrymple. When the Yankees came to bat, Baltimore pitcher Robin Roberts sent a pitch sailing over the head of Roger Maris and the shouting match began.

Baltimore fans, aroused over the possibility of a rematch turned out in force. The crowd of 38,703 was the largest of the year in Memorial Stadium.

"I bet a lot of people were disappointed when I met Houk at home plate and didn't punch him in the nose," Hitchcock said. "All Ralph said before the game," Hitchcock continued, "was that since he helped bring out the big crowd, he wanted a slice of the gate."

Survivors in NCAA Meet Are Matched

By KEN ALTYA

DURHAM, N.C. (AP) — Phase Two of the NCAA Golf Tournament starts today. Match play among 64 survivors of the starting field of 215.

Thirteen golfers will fight for five positions among the qualifiers. They shot 156 against the cut score of 155.

Kermil Zarley of Houston won the medal with a 140 total on rounds of 68-72. His first round 68 was one of only three sub-par rounds among the unyielding Duke course, a par 71 test measuring 6,828 yards.

Charles Layton of Georgia, quarter-finalist last year, had one of the two other sub-par rounds of 70, for a 143 qualifying score that tied him with Dick Dion of Duke and John Lotz of San Jose State.

Alone in fourth at 145 was James Gabrielson of Georgia, whose second round 70 completed the par battering.

Two rounds today and Thursday will be followed by semifinals Friday and the 36-hole final Saturday.

Houston clinched its sixth team title in seven years, regaining the crown it lost to Purdue. The Cougars had a four-man, 36-hole aggregate score of 588, 10 better than runnerup Oklahoma State.

Angels Wrest Third Place From Yanks

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Los Angeles Angels took over third place from the Yankees in the American League race Tuesday night by beating the Yanks' favorite pasties—the Kansas City Athletics. Their 7-4 decision was the Angels' sixth straight victory over the A's and their ninth in 12 meetings this year.

Boston knocked off Cleveland's front-running Indians 4-2, Minnesota moved up by rapping Chicago 9-4, Baltimore won its fifth in a row and handed the Yanks their fifth successive defeat, 3-1, and Frank Lary recorded his first victory in over two months with a neat six-hitter as Detroit blanked Washington 5-0.

The results left Cleveland a bare half game ahead of the Twins, Los Angeles 2½ back in third, and the Yankees slumped to fourth, three games behind the Indians.

In the National League, first-place Los Angeles shaded St. Louis 3-2, Houston dropped runnerup San Francisco 2½ games behind with a 6-4 decision over the Giants, Cincinnati edged Pittsburgh 2-1, Chicago overwhelmed Philadelphia 9-5 and the New York Mets ended their latest losing string at seven games by downing Milwaukee 6-5.

The Angels socked four homers, three doubles and collected six walks against four Kansas City pitchers but had to struggle to beat the A's.

Angel starter Ken McBride homered off loser John Wyatt in the third and Leon Wagner raised his league-leading total to 19 when he connected with a man on in the fifth.

The Orioles, shut out the last four times Chuck Estrada started, finally gave the hard-throwing right-hander enough runs to win against the Yankees. Brooks Robinson paced Baltimore with a tie-breaking homer against Ralph Terry in the sixth inning and a run-scoring single in the eighth. Harmon Killebrew launched Minnesota's assault on the White Sox when he cracked his 15th homer with one on in the first off Juan Pizarro. The Twins got two more off the Chicago lefty in the second on four straight walks and a sacrifice fly, then ripped Don Zanni with a five-run explosion in the fifth. Southpaw Jim Kaat slugged a homer, Vic Power did the same, and Bob Allison followed with another with two aboard. With all this support Kaat breezed to his seventh victory in 11 decisions.

Bill Monbouquette cooled off the Indians, who had won four in a row and nine of 12, pitching a four-hitter. The Boston right-hander had a shutout going until the eighth, when a walk and Gene Green's pinch homer gave Cleveland its two runs.

Lary posted his second victory of the season after eight futile tries and won for the first time since April 13 with his shutout over Washington. The 23-game winner of last year, hampered by a sore shoulder recently and now 2-4, limited the Senators to six singles, walked one and struck out five.

Lawyer Says He Was Held Unlawfully

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A white Mississippi lawyer charges he and an integrated group of four college students were held incommunicado for 20 hours by Clarksdale, Miss., authorities, an action he is protesting to President Kennedy.

Attorney William L. Higgs of Jackson, legal counsel for the Mississippi Civil Rights Advisory Committee, also said at Greenville that the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has contacted the Justice Department in behalf of the group.

Higgs said the students were touring northern Mississippi to study different phases of the racial question. They went to a Negro church in Clarksdale Sunday to discuss the unsuccessful campaign for Congress waged by the Rev. Merrill Lindsey, a Negro.

Higgs worked with Lindsey during the race.

When they left the church, Higgs said, police arrested them on suspicion but would not clarify the charge. Later while being questioned in jail he said an unidentified deputy told him:

"We have a man in jail that would cut your throat or stab you in the back. All we got to do is put you in a cell next to him."

Higgs, 2-2 and a graduate of the University of Mississippi and Harvard Law School, said he did not sleep well. He also said a white girl in the group was asked if she had dated any Negroes. They were released without charge the next day.

Meanwhile, a team of college and graduate students was planning to open a summer educational program July 2 at Prince Edward County, Va., Negro children who have been without formal schooling for the past three years.

Then came, in order, Maria Esther Bueno of Brazil, Rene Schuurman of South Africa, Ann Haydon of Britain, Angela Mortimer of Britain, Leslie Turner of Australia, and Mrs. Karen Hantze Susman of Chula Vista, Calif.

Tall Christine Truman, who lost the final last year to Miss Mortimer, was left off the list.

The seven-week program will be coordinated by the Rev. Frederic Buss of Austin, Tex. He said it is being sponsored by the Student Christian Movement, an affiliate of the National Student Christian federation with headquarters in New York.
